

What is the Permit Review Process in La Jolla Shores?

PARTIES INVOLVED:

Two community groups review building projects in the La Jolla Shores Planned District and provide advisory opinions to the project planner:

- La Jolla Shores Permit Review Committee (LJS PRC), which is a committee under the La Jolla Community Planning Association (LJCPA or just “CPA”)
- La Jolla Shores [Planned District] Advisory Board (LJSAB)

These groups are advisory in nature, and the projects are ultimately approved or rejected by the City of San Diego staff members.

THE PROCESS:

LJS PRC has members from the La Jolla Shores Association (LJSA), the Community Planning Committee of La Jolla Shores, and the LJCPA. LJS PRC meets the fourth Tuesday of the month at 4:00 PM in the La Jolla Rec Center at 615 Prospect Street in La Jolla. The LJS PRC votes on each project and forwards its recommendation to the LJCPA. Then, at the LJCPA’s monthly meetings, the project will either be passed on the consent agenda or pulled from the consent agenda for review by the entire LJCPA board at the following LJCPA meeting. (The LJCPA’s monthly meetings are held the first Thursday of the Month at 7:15 PM at the La Jolla Rec Center.) After a decision by the LJCPA, a recommendation is forwarded to the City Planner for the project and it becomes part of the file.

The LJSAB a.k.a. “The Advisory Board” also votes on permits for the La Jolla Shores area, and their recommendation is also forwarded to the City Planner. The LJSAB meets on the 3rd Tuesday of each month (but often combines the November and December meetings into one meeting on the first Tuesday of December because of the holidays). Their meetings take place at 9:00 AM in a conference room on the 7th floor of the City Administration Building at 202 C Street in San Diego.
